Madame Governor,

Fiscal Year 19 has been a year full of great work by the New Mexico Commission for Deaf and Hard of Hearing as well as continued challenges and changes. First let me start by saying we have a wonderful team of Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Hearing staff members who work hard to provide a number of different services sometimes taking on several roles to serve our community. This work provides services to some of our most vulnerable members of the state and ensures that our children, parents, siblings, and grandparents have meaningful access to the state they live in. Their access comes in many forms through technology, education, and for many of us through interpreters. This represents what many people are starting to refer to as an ecosystem for and of the Deaf, Hard of Hearing, Deaf-Blind, and those with speech disabilities. This ecosystem is a growing ecosystem; as our community ages we see increasing needs and at the same time opportunities. Many changes occurred during the fiscal year that I want to touch on and I also want to touch on what our agency is doing to address the evolution of our ecosystem.

In previous annual reports, we explained how we had worked to prepare for the upcoming the shift to new technology. This technology transitions the ecosystem from an analog world to the faster and more robust digital world. Real Time Text (RTT) represents this transition, phasing out the use of older Teletype devices like TTY's in favor of mobile technology such as smart phones. The initial requirement from the four tier one carriers was to have RTT made available on their devices for use by Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and the Deaf-Blind. A lot of the popular smart devices have already worked to make their devices accept Real Time Text calls via their hardware. Some of the carriers have opted to provide access via an over-the-top app that provides a system to accept RTT calls. The tier two carriers are now expected to provide access to RTT through their service in the coming year followed by the rest of the carriers in 2021. So far there is only one temporary exemption for a carrier. This exemption is due to the technological limitations currently existing within the carrier's ability with their 4th generation service. It is expected that the issue will be resolved and, in the meantime, they are still able to use the TTY system to communicate. It so happens that this carrier serves a number of our community members who have a hearing loss, and this has had an impact to the number of RTT users that currently use the service. As a result, there has been slowdown in adoption of RTT which in term had an impact on the number of individuals using RTT Relay services. We don't anticipate that number will continue to be low; in fact, we anticipate the opposite. RTT has the potential to be available in all sorts of devices and solve all sorts of barriers. RTT will be included on landline devices, for example. This past year we got a preview of the devices being manufactured and available to work on our existing relay program if we are able to move forward with adding the feature. This could solve a number of concerns about the quality of wireless services in some areas of New Mexico by creating an in-home option for relay services. The landline device incorporates a lot of the features of mobile devices into a traditional telephone and also has a huge potential of addressing emergency calls without a TTY. RTT also provides a potential solution for our Deaf Blind braille users. RTT has is faster and therefore has less latency then previous technology. This makes RTT a viable tool for conversations with someone who is Deaf Blind. Traditionally our Deaf Blind community has had to rely on a third party who is physically with them.

Our agency also completed all the required certification paperwork for the Federal Communications Commission (FCC); this process ensured that we are compliance with all federal regulations. The FCC also announced that they are reviewing the rules for how Internet Protocol Captioned Services (IP CTS) and Traditional Relay Services. Both could have a financial impact on the state provision of relay services. The state is being viewed as a potential administer of IP CTS relay services which has been under the purview of the FCC for several years. This would change the landscape for how relay services are provided and would also be a massive undertaking for the agency which would require changes to our current classification for at least one position.

This fiscal year also saw our agency wrapping up the changes to our Telecommunications Equipment Program to prepare the program for the future. With the way technology evolves some of the equipment changes weren't clear until near the end of the year. There has been a shift to mobile friendly technology. We now have telecommunications technology that works across a wide spectrum of platforms. The devices also address the barrier that some people with a hearing loss face when they don't have hearing aids that access loop technology utilizing Bluetooth and some personal sound amplifiers. These tools can then tap into loop technology. We have these new devices in our office that provide access to their phone and then can connect to a sound field at their meetings and we welcome people to test them and see how they can benefit in our testing room. The devices are more durable, easier to use, and last longer on a single charge. This provides a much-needed quality of life improvement. This year we have also started to look at some of the new machine learning technology that comes with some of the mobile devices in the market today. These devices use machine learning to caption speech in real time. We are testing the technology and working with national groups to address some of the shortcomings and concerns that our community has.

Our advocacy and engagement services have done a great job of working through increasing vacancies in their departments. The growing vacancies hurt our overall numbers in barriers addressed but we saw a lot of positive work done and I remain impressed with the dedication to the community. We have continued to work with individuals and agencies to address barriers for individuals with a hearing loss or speech disability. In the report you will see that a lot of work has been with law enforcement and hospitals. We continue to work on making the interaction with these two elements as accessible as possible. Our work has encouraged hospitals in the state to change policies, hire staff interpreters and install technology that supports our community. These are welcome improvements and I have had the privilege of being told by visitors to our state how positive their experiences have been. We recently had a discussion with the Sunport which resulted in installation of video phones in the airport and the promise to install loop technology for our hard of hearing community. Our work has helped inform numerous members of the community on our needs and on potential solutions to better serve our community whether they are skiing on our snow slopes, going to the movies for enjoyment, trying to pay their bills, or access resources to find jobs. We continue to create important partnerships to offset some of the shortages we have in our agency. Our Outreach services and training are being reviewed as national models and we have had some great results. The agency will continue to work with our partners to ensure that those services continue and reduce barriers throughout the state.

We have participated in national discussions throughout the year regarding interpreting services and responsibilities of agencies who provide interpreting services. We actively participate in committees and meet virtually with members of the National Association for the Deaf, The Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, the Hearing Loss Association of America, The National Association of State Relay Administrators, the Telecommunications Equipment Distribution Program Administrators, Telecommunications for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Inc., Council de Manos, and others. Often, we were able to showcase many of the successes here in New Mexico as well as discuss ways to assist other states in improving their services. We have also taking some cues and resources from other states and brought them to our state.

This year has been a very busy and productive year. Our work continues to bring recognition which has resulted in many requests for the staff here at the office to take lead roles in national discussions regarding telecommunications, trilingual interpreter services, our Deaf-Blind and Deaf-Plus services, and mental health interpreter services. The ecosystem I mentioned earlier continues to grow stronger and become a huge part of the diversity of the state. As our ecosystem becomes stronger, we see more investments which includes new job opportunities for interpreters, a strong call center for our Video Relay Services, and a growing workforce looking to contribute to our great state. We see people moving to our state looking to contribute and become a part of our ecosystem and a New Mexican. Their uniqueness adds to what makes us better and we continue to see the overall community start to embrace sign language and work with us to communicate. A large part of why this is happening is due to the support of you, our legislators, and our community. We thank you, and we will continue to create and provide structured and successful programs to grow our community and prepare for the future.

I look forward to the next fiscal year and work with the state of New Mexico.

The Honorable Michelle Lujan Grisham

Madame Governor,

Fiscal Year 19 has been a great year since we have such a strong team for the New Mexico Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (NMCDHH). We have been focusing on updating our technology as mentioned in the Director's Annual Letter. Technology nowadays has been changing so we have been working with different organizations that provide the new technology such as Real Time Text (RTT) and providing those technologies to the Deaf and Hard of Hearing population across New Mexico. It is an important project that we are working on because there is still a huge population in New Mexico that relies on TTY that soon will be obsolete and no longer supported. This means that there will be barriers for the population to communicate with the hearing world without TTY and any support on this. So, I'm very glad and proud of our Commission for working on ensuring that we are providing the services that the Deaf and Hard of Hearing population needs in order to maintain some type of telecommunication.

In addition to the great work with changing our technology for the population, we have also been working on updating our Telecommunications Equipment Program to improve the products that we have available for the Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deaf-Blind population and also adding more products that work with the Loop technology. This provides more opportunities for people with different hearing losses to be able to attend our Commission meetings and other locations that provide the Loop technology. Again, this is all great work because the "future" technology is here now and NMCDHH is working very hard to ensure that the Deaf and Hard of Hearing population can be a part of that as well in terms of technology and access.

As for advocacy, NMCDHH has encountered some challenges with vacancies in the office but the staff have done a great job working together to ensure that the service provided is still superb. They have been focusing on their work with the law enforcement and hospitals to improve communication and access with both. We are one of the few states that have focused on these concerns and NMCDHH has seen Commissions in other states follow suit.

NMCDHH has been involved with a lot of different organizations that involve different portions of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing populations such as the National Association for the Deaf, The Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, the Hearing Loss Association of America, The National Association of State Relay Administrators, the Telecommunications Equipment Distribution Program Administrators, and several other organizations. Together we can improve services and provide feedback with each other.

With all of this in mind, we know that this is helping our ecosystem of Deaf, Hard of Hearing, Deaf-Blind, Deaf Plus, and those with speech disabilities. This will help the ecosystem maintain itself and continue to grow.

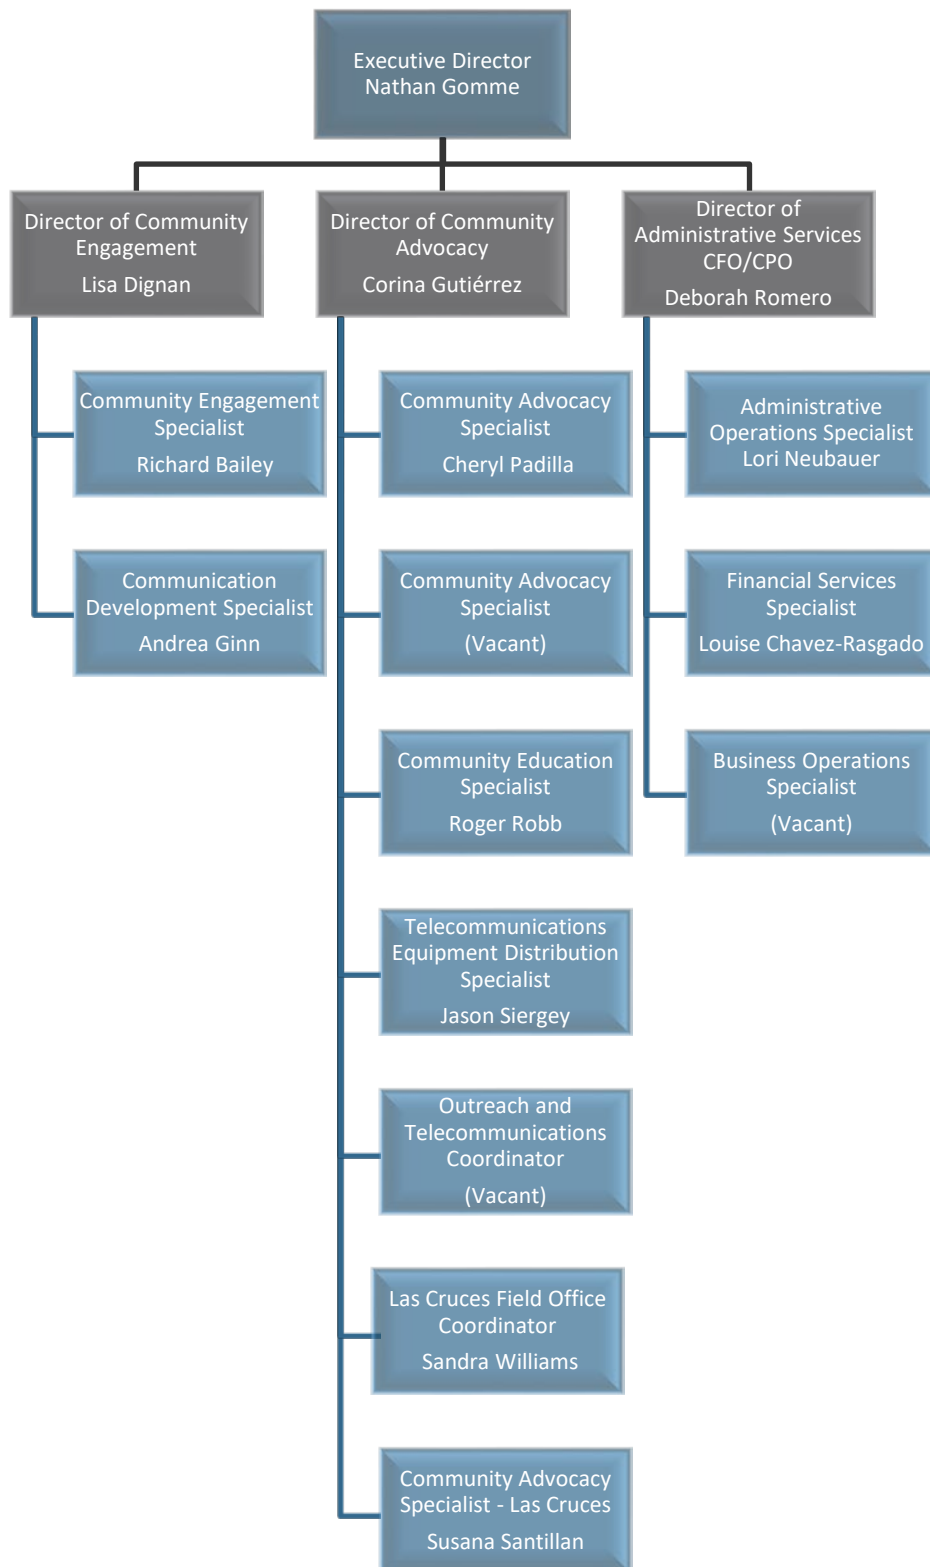

All of this wouldn't be possible if it wasn't for you and your support for our Commission and we are grateful for that opportunity and we are looking forward to the next fiscal year and we know we will continue to do amazing work for our community.

Sincerely,

Austin Welborn

Community Advocacy

Corina Gutiérrez, Director of Community Advocacy

The Department of Community Advocacy (DCA) provides individual advocacy, system advocacy, community education, outreach and Telecommunication Equipment Distribution Program, and state-wide relay services. NMCDHH partners with several state, local, and county agencies as well as businesses to collaborate on services for all people with disabilities and participates in special projects. The department developed and continued to implement its strategic plan for law enforcement, continues to work with healthcare providers and hospitals, and conducts trainings on communication access for all types of agencies and businesses throughout the State of New Mexico.

. There are eight FTE positions in two offices for the department.

- Albuquerque Office
 - Corina Gutiérrez, Director of Community Advocacy
 - Roger Robb, Community Education Specialist
 - Cheryl Padilla Community Advocacy Specialist (Left at the end of the fiscal year)
 - Jason Siergey, Telecommunications Equipment Distribution Specialist
 - Community Advocacy Specialist, Vacant Outreach
 - Telecommunications Coordinator, Vacant
- Las Cruces Office
 - Sandra Williams, Field Office Coordinator
 - Susana Santillan, Community Advocacy Specialist

Individual and System Advocacy

NMCDHH advocates on two levels, the first level is one an individual level the second level is on a systemic level. We often have individuals who face communication barriers in employment, with government services and in educational settings. Additionally, communication barriers such as those commonly found in health care settings and during the use of emergency services are addressed. Individual Advocacy can be a difficult ongoing process where several factors impede on a person's ability to effectively navigate through the system. While addressing the individual situation we also take the information and create a plan to address the issue on a larger scale and resolve the barriers before another person encounters them. Some examples of how we do this include: Education Vlogs in sign language for the Administrative Office of the Courts self-help process, working with the Albuquerque Little Theatre to inform the community about its accessible performances, working with the City of Albuquerque Job & Career Fair to make sure interpreters were provided for interviews, developing a request sign with the Social Security offices, and our work to educate the Bernalillo County Elections Board and the community on how to work with the board. NMCDHH continues to improve and develop communication access tools with law enforcement, healthcare providers, Social Security, courts, attorneys, and Motor Vehicle Division in state of New Mexico. NMCDHH remains and active means of information as we help the community improve their engagement with their legislative body and commit to improving and ensuring that statewide and federal disability regulations and laws are in place and adhered to. Public awareness and educational trainings are an important tool and often provide a proactive resource when provided to the community. Advocacy has been difficult due to losing some staff this year and some support from other departments. Our Department remains committed to providing the services to the community.

Community Education

Information, recommendations, workshops and potential solutions are offered to private and public agencies, professional organizations, businesses and individuals in areas such as Deaf Sensitivity, Effective Communications, Assistive Technology, and an overview of the New Mexico Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing and the Telecommunication Equipment Distribution program. Often this is done by our Community Education Specialist, Roger Robb. Sometimes an agency will request specialty workshops such as how to work with attorneys. Other members of the NMCDHH or one of our vendors will provide those specialized trainings.

ROGER ROBB PROVIDING 911 TRAINING

Mr. Robb alone provided 75 of the 136 presentations/trainings during the 2019 Fiscal Year. This accounted for about 55 percent of the total presentations provided in the state of New Mexico. - Worked with the staff to improve access on some of the programming already available, as well as some tips to improve interaction with the hearing loss community.
- Waiting on the development of a new facility and working to incorporate some ideas about looping and other accessibility tools.

Telecommunication Equipment Distribution

The Telecommunication Equipment Distribution Program (TEDP), is a service that the New Mexico Commission for Deaf and Hard of Hearing provides to the community throughout the state. Traditionally the program consisted of amplified phones, visual communication devices such as the CapTel (captioned telephone) and iPads, along with a variety of accessories such as notification systems, smoke alert systems, phone ringers, and personal assistive devices. This past year we went through some of the products and reviewed some new equipment to add to the program and some devices that may no longer be viable. This review occurs with increasing frequency as the world of technology continues to constantly evolve. All of the equipment in our program is available to qualifying residents of New Mexico. The accessories may complement phones, tablets and/or mobile phones with Bluetooth-enabled devices, cellular/mobile notification systems, and neckloops which work with the telecoils in hearing aids and cochlear implants. TEDP works with our vendor, Teltex, to distribute equipment, provide customer support, and troubleshooting equipment in our program. We outline the items in our brochure – both in print version and online at our website:

www.cdhh.state.nm.us. Our ever-changing listings evolve to meet each individual's needs in this rapidly changing world of technology, this past year we saw some truly incredible changes to the world of telecommunication technology. This year we began to see devices that are able to caption dialogue in over 70 languages, without the need for a third party. We anticipate this technology will begin to become more and more common. These shifts and advancements in technology are almost quarterly. This year we added a phone with the ability to modify speech speed without creating a delay in conversation. This is great for our community when they make personal calls, but we also work to provide possible solutions outside the realm of our program such as ideas and suggestions in the workplace or, in meetings/conferences. We began testing the captioning programs for that various purpose, in the hope of encouraging other companies and agencies to look at different ways to provide access. Our program makes every effort to address the needs of everyone in the community we serve this includes the deaf-blind and speech disabled constituents in addition to deaf and hard-of-hearing constituents.

Outreach Program

New Mexico Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (NMCDHH) is a one stop information gathering center for people with hearing loss. NMCDHH provides fact sheets, and referrals to agencies who will provide the appropriate accommodations to constituents and their needs. NMCDHH attended numerous booths across the state to provide one on one information and one stop education for equipment for telecommunications. Health and wellness fairs all over the state and the Roadrunner Food Bank in the Metro area have proven to be positive places where participants learn more about the telecommunications equipment that NMCDHH provides. Outreach takes place so that the information reaches every corner of the state from Espanola, Gallup, Santa Fe, Pueblo of Sandia, Bernalillo, Rio Rancho, and Albuquerque. The Albuquerque office attended 39 booths with 1,732 booth visitors. The booths were conducted at:

- Assistive Technology Conference
- CABQ Health and Benefits Fair
- Cuba Senior Citizen Center Fair
- De Baca Health and Wellness Fair
- Disability Awareness Day
- Disability Summit
- Eldorado High School Fair
- Head to Toe Conference
- Mesa Hills Apartment Health Fair

Las Cruces Satellite Office

The staff at the Las Cruces Office work in conjunction with the Albuquerque office to reduce or remove communication barriers for our constituents residing across Southern New Mexico. They provided service coordination, equipment distribution, educations and referred constituents to appropriate service providers, so they obtain the necessary services they needed.

Individual and System Advocacy

Together, the staff served over 223 constituents, who faced communication barriers or lacked community resources to improve their quality of life. These language barriers are not limited to English and American Sign Language, we see individuals with limited English proficiency and often are unsure of what resources are available. With the staff's advocacy efforts, over 1,623 communication barriers were removed among our constituents' public entities, including governmental and local law enforcement agencies. The staff met with the chief of police, captains, county and city ADA coordinators, courts and hospitals. All of these meetings lead to changes to policies, awareness, and improved access for constituents in the various areas across the southern part of our state.

Distribution of Technology Applications

The Las Cruces office works with the Albuquerque office and our vendor to provide equipment specially designed to serve the community with a hearing loss and or a speech disability. The Las Cruces Office has a testing room that is available to the community where they can test and learn about equipment. Due to the staff's outreach efforts, they saw an increased demand for the Telecommunication Equipment Distribution Program.

Education and Advocacy

Many individuals, private business, agencies and organizations requested assistance from our Las Cruces staff for information and guidance, especially with how to accommodate their constituents with hearing loss, coping skills, or where to find interpreters, CART services and other specialized resources. This year our staff in Las Cruces made a big push to provide these resources in various parts of Southern New Mexico, providing over 50 booths.

The staff visited rural towns and passed on information about the mission of NMCDHH. They stopped at several community centers, senior citizen centers, health clinics and food banks and educated them about the availability of NMCDHH's services. Meeting constituents in the smaller communities of Southern New Mexico is crucial and necessary. The results of their letters, emails, phone calls and in-person contacts have been very productive. More and more public service providers also contacted the Commission and sought information and guidance as well.

SUSANA SANTILLAN AT PARENTS REACHING OUT CONFERENCE

The staff actively collaborated with at least 50 agencies and organizations in Southern New Mexico to strengthen the Deaf and Hard of Hearing communities. Some of these meetings are on a monthly, ongoing basis to ensure the public is informed of the availability of the Commission's services and educated on ADA laws pertaining to communication access. With their collaboration, they were given the opportunities to provide over 22 presentations this year.

Accomplishments in Fiscal Year 2019:

The staff provided guidance to a hospital's HR team in Hobbs on how to comply with ADA laws by providing them the resources in how to secure interpreters, Video Remote Interpreting and other communication access for their patients. Also, one hospital in Las Cruces now has video phones made available to their patients who use sign language to use during their stay.

Due to Susana Santillan's advocacy, the Las Cruces City Library has installed a public video phone for our constituents to use. Alamogordo, Roswell and Hobbs are working with the Commission to do the same.

A movie theatre in Deming will now provide accommodations such as captioning devices for their patrons.

Collaboration and trainings were provided to various law enforcement departments such as the Doña Ana Sheriff department, Doña Ana Sheriff's Crime Victim Advocates, the Las Cruces police department and the CYFD-Juvenile Probation Officers Department.

Staff served on community advisory boards such as the Las Cruces City ADA Committee and New Mexico Workforce Connection.

State agencies such as Aging and Long-Term Disabilities required our advocacy to provide appropriate communication access to their clients.

On three separate occasions, Sandra Williams assisted constituents with their complaints to the Department of Justice and Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. As a result, these constituents received the necessary approvals for their services.

A ski resort had a situation with a deaf constituent and didn't provide appropriate services during the visit to the resort. The individual was very upset by the situation and was planning to lead a protest due to the interaction. Ms. Williams intervened and collaborated with the staff at the resort and the deaf constituent to help resolve their concerns. The staff at the resort requested her assistance to help them clarify their policy and procedures to make it more accessible for everyone with hearing loss. As a result, we have seen positive progress and resolution.

Ms. Santillan advocated for constituents to obtain services from the county office and two separate medical facilities.

Deaf-Blind Services

Community Outreach for the Deaf-NM Deaf-Blind Services program is funded by a contract amendment with CDHH. The contract for deaf-blind services was initially provided through the Governor's Commission on Disability and was transferred to CDHH in the fiscal year 2013. The number of deaf-blind and deaf plus SSP users continues to grow and at last glance was at 54 users.
